Turn-it-in

What can it do and how can I use it?

Turnitin is a web-based tool which provides an online plagiarism prevention and detection service for both educators and learners. Digital versions of papers submitted to the Turnitin website are compared against billions of documents, including databases of submitted student papers. Whilst effective to help identify suspected individual cases of plagiarism, or as a deterrent, Turnitin plagiarism prevention is even more effective when used as an educational tool. This seminar will introduce you to the Turnitin plagiarism software.

Come and learn what the software does, and how to use it. This may also be a useful refresher for those who have not seen the new software interface.

Speakers: Judi Baron and Dayle Hall, CLPD Online Learning

Judi coordinates Online Learning within the Centre for Learning and Professional Development (CLPD). Online Learning specialises in the areas of pedagogy, instructional design and multimedia and provides effective learning and teaching support to the University community.

Dayle has a background in computer science as well as education and has a broad experience ranging from classroom teaching to video production and web development.

Venue: 423 Ligertwood Building
Date: 2.00 - 3.00pm, Friday 17 April 2009
RSVP: anne.hewitt@adelaide.edu.au
Further information: www.law.adelaide.edu.au/seminarseries