The E-enhanced learning project

A major University initiative between 2009 and 2011 is the E-Enhanced Learning and Teaching Project (e-ELTP). The aim of this project is to significantly improve the student experience through the enhancement of electronic support for learning and teaching. Several of our colleagues have been involved in implementing the project in the Law School. This seminar will provide an opportunity to hear about their specific activities, and about electronic learning at the University of Adelaide more broadly.

Speaker: Geoffrey Crisp, Director CLPD
Geoff is the Director of Adelaide’s Centre for Learning and Professional Development.

Speaker: Matthew Stubbs, Law School
Matthew has been involved in creating an online learning module for use in Principles of Public Law as a part of the e-enhanced learning project. He can share his insights into the programme and provide some information regarding the module he has been creating.

Venue: Room 314, Ligertwood Building, North Terrace Campus

Date: 2.00-3.00pm Friday 11 June 2010
